Carmel Hi Seniors Have Commencement At Sunset Friday

Tomorrow evening at 8:00 o'clock 89 Carmel High School seniors in navy blue caps and gowns will pace down the aisles of Sunset Auditorium to Elgar's Pomp and Circumstance processional played by the school orchestra under the direction of John W. Farr. After the Class of 1958 gathers on the stage, graduation ceremonies start with an invocation delivered by the Reverend H.M.M. Nicholas. Roger Fremier, last semester student body president, will lead the Salute To The Flag.

Neil Giarratana, valedictorian, has chosen To Travel Hopefully as his subject. Class speakers Douglas McAulay and Gary Bradburn will talk respectively on The Student Body President and The Student Body Vice President.

Teachers Get Raise, "Not Lavish But Comparable"

The Carmel School District teachers received their long-awaited (since February) salary increase at an adjourned meeting of the school board Tuesday night. It was not the schedule proposed in February but one scaled down several days before the meeting to fit the funds available in the tentative budget, which was also prepared several days before the meeting. "It is not a lavish schedule but comparable to other schools in the area," Raymond Gere, representing the teachers, commented.

The new schedule sets starting pay at $4400 and top at $7700. The February schedule provided for a low of $4500 and high of $7950. Current schedule starts at $4300 and goes to $7000.

Money was found for the pay raise by relieving the over-revenue tax revenue of the site purchase (Continued on Page Four)

Margaret Grant Has Lived In Flamboyant Places Including Early Carmel

BY RAYLYN PENNEY

"It's the thin end of the wedge," the eloquent young man declared (or words to that effect). He wore a longish necktie and it rippled wildly in the heavy currents of agitation at the Carmel citizens' protest meeting.

"Give an inch and they'll take a mile," he added. He had the crowd with him to a man (and woman). "Once the world overtakes Carmel," he predicted darkly "we're lost."

You think the subject of this meeting might be motels? Neon signs? Heavy industry? You couldn't be wrong.

The time was circa 1927 and the situation to be faced was whether or not to allow a second gas station in Carmel. (What is Carmel coming to? Who needs two gas stations anyway?).

The speaker with the audience in his palm: Perry Newberry. The story: courtesy of the sensitive memory of a Carmelite now in exile but a Carmelite all the same, Mrs. Margaret Grant, who moved here in 1921.

This charming and peppery lady's chief concern is apparently to be reticent about herself. Yet it has been her good fortune during a long lifetime to live in flamboyant places during flamboyant times. Early in the century it was the West African bush, Zululand in South Africa, Moscow and, still earlier, Victorian England, her birthplace.

She has never said that Carmel in the twenties was the most flamboyant of all, and probably never will, but some of her favorite memories originate there.

Mrs. Grant, for instance, may be one of the few people around today with the distinction of having once been threatened with arrest by the now almost legend-

Rare Cypress Study Wins First Place In Pine Cone Conservation Awards

The 1958 winners of the Annual Pine Cone Award in Conservation at Carmel High School are:

Individual awards: First place: Laidlaw (Boz) Williams, second place: Rob Forbes.

Group awards: First place: Frank Palmer and Bruce Reifel, second place: Ciji Ware and Elizabeth von Loben Sels.

Boz Williams has won his first place for his outstanding work in a field study in Ecology. Besides sharing with his classmates his carefully gathered field data and his critical evaluation of environmental facts which may influence the distribution of the Gowan Cypress, he has been ardent in his efforts to acquaint and interest other students in the values of a Natural Area. The Gowan Cypress, once a common forest tree of prehistoric times, is now a species which occurs probably only on the Monterey Peninsula and in a most restricted area — in fact, its area in the Del Monte Forest is limited to approximately 25 acres. This cypress is related to the Monterey cypress but is a dwarf tree. Mature cone-bearing trees are sometimes no taller than seven inches.

Rob Forbes has spent many hours out-of-doors and has gained insight into plant and animal relationships. Rob says "With this work, I began to see first-hand things that I had only been told about. I saw the actual speed in which grasses grew and I began to understand the effects rain and sunshine had on that growth. I saw a 'giant' picture of relationships between weather conditions and growth as well as the tremendous seasonal changes that plants go through. Best of all I began to understand my own observations. I became able to spot possible erosion and drainage problems before the rains made them obvious."

This award has been given annually now for 9 years and, says Miss Enid A. Larson, it has been an invaluable aid in furthering the interest and enthusiasm of students.

President Heuss Expected Here Saturday Noon

Dr. Theodor Heuss, President of the Federal Republic of Germany, will arrive at the Highlands Inn Saturday noon with an entourage of 30 to rest, see the points of interest on the Peninsula, and have tea with his friends, Dr. and Mrs. Bruno Adriani in Carmel. He comes by car but will return by plane Sunday afternoon, when the Columbine will fly in to pick him up at the Monterey Airport and return him to San Francisco where he is visiting today.

Theodor Heuss, President of the Federal Republic of Germany, was born in Brackenheim, State of Württemberg, Germany, January 31, 1884, the son of Ludwig and Elisabeth (Guembel) Heuss. A student at universities of Berlin and Munich, he took his Doctor's degree in political science in 1905.

He married Elly Knapp, April 11, 1908, who died on July 19, 1952. There is one son, Ernst Ludwig.

Editor of literary and political section of Friedrich Naumann's weekly journal Die Hilfe, Berlin; editor of Neckar Zeitung, Heilbronn, 1912-18, and bi-monthly journal Maerz, 1913-18; leader German Work Federation and editor of the weekly journal German Politics, 1918-20; lecturer in history, governmental and party affairs at the German Academy of Political Science, 1920-33. Publisher of periodical Hilfe, 1933-36; free (Continued on Page Fourteen)

Dr. Heuss' sight seeing schedule includes the Carmel Mission, Seventeen Mile Drive, Del Monte Lodge, and the Peninsula is predisposed in his favor, since he said in his address before Congress on June 5:

"But already I feel that I shall not advance on my visit here beyond some very modest elementary lessons; and I—who have written a number of books—promise you that I shall not write a book as an expert on the United States when I return home."

In contrast to the "security" furor for Dr. Adenauer's visit here in 1953, when the hotel and grounds were emptied of everyone not connected with the official party for days in advance and even the squirrels in the pines were regarded with suspicion, there will be no disturbance in the hotel routine, and other guests have not been excluded, Fritz Hartung, manager of the Highlands Inn told the Pine Cone, adding that the desert created around Dr. Adenauer was unnecessary, the arrangements poorly managed.

Dr. Ernst Ludwig Heuss, the German President's son, Dr. W. Grewe, German Ambassador to Washington, will be in the party, also Wilely T. Buchanan, Jr., American Chief of Protocol, Baron Sigismund von Braun, German Chief of Protocol and brother of the American physicist Wernher von Braun.

Citizens And City Sages In Angry Huddle Over Mushrooming Motels

Carmel can control building of more motels by an amendment to the interim zoning ordinance City Attorney John Morse told the city council and planning commission meeting in joint study session Tuesday afternoon. Citizens filled the council chamber, many of them vehemently expressing opinions on what Councilman Gunnar Norberg called "the mushrooming motel situation."

Norberg, at the request of Mayor John Chitwood, opened the motel discussion and suggested a moratorium. Mayor Chitwood remarked that both the council and commission were endeavoring to maintain Carmel "as we know it." The recent 15 percent "open space" ordinance, framed by both bodies, provided for "much more attractive motels but did not stop the inrush." He wondered if any "decisive action" could be taken.

City Attorney Morse answered that a moratorium was possible. The interim zoning ordinance controls zoning while the Master Plan (Continued on Page Fourteen)

CARMEL LEADS MONTEREY BABE RUTH LEAGUE

Jack Miller's newly-formed Carmel team took over first place in the Monterey Babe Ruth League during the past weekend by whipping the Monterey Red Sox, 9 to 5, while Baldwin Pianos dropped one game and tied another. Baldwin had a one-game bulge on Carmel before this Saturday and Sunday's play but the local pastimers wiped out the lead with a big win over the Red Sox.

Larry Frazier, husky lefthander, pitched the win for Carmel in Sunday's crucial tilt, striking out 10 Red Sox swingers and doling out 5 hits. Besides hurling a steady game, the muscular southpaw stroked a pair of singles and scored 3 runs. Bob Little also swung a big mace for Carmel, hitting 2 for 4 and driving in three markers.

CARMEL CRICKET CLUB EVENS SCORE WITH GOLDEN GATE

Secretary Alec Merivale of the Carmel Cricket Club is all smiles this week as his Del Monte cricketeers avenged an earlier loss to the Golden Gate Club by soundly trouncing the visitors from San Francisco, 73 to 35. In the first meeting at San Francisco, Golden Gate ran wild against the local club to post a lopsided 153-32 win. Del Monte could do nothing wrong in Sunday's game at the high school field as Alfred Cooper wielded the flat bat for 29 runs and George Usher was spinning up tricky curves to retire four wickets and a scant 15 runs.

Cricket action continues at the high school field this Sunday when the Marin Cricket Club provides the opposition for the Del Monte Club. First bowl over the pitch is scheduled for 1:00 o'clock.

THIS WEEK'S FISH PLANTS

The department of fish and game again planted catchable-sized trout in Big Sur and Carmel River this week. In neighboring counties, the following streams: Arroyo Grande, Atascadero, Lopez, San Simeon, Tassajara, Reservoir Canyon lake, San Simeon Creek lagoon in San Luis Obispo County; Branciforte, Fall, San Vicente, Soquel creeks, San Lorenzo River in Santa Cruz County.

RONNIE FAIA IS TOP CARMEL HIGH BATTER

Ron Faia, diminutive sophomore shortstop, led Carmel High's championship baseball team in the batting department with an even 400 average for the entire season. Swinging from the right side, the little shortstop blasted 20 hits in 50 trips to the dish and also blasted the only home run garnered by the Padres in league play. Dave Hansen, sophomore reserve catcher, hit a solid 416 but was at the plate only twelve times. Dale Dawson, junior leftfielder, belted enemy pitching for a 384 average and topped the Padres in the scoring department with 15 runs. The sharp-eyed leadoff man also drew the most walks to get on base more than any other player in the CCAL B-division. Dare Conroy, junior pitcher-third baseman, picked up third place in the hitting department, stroking 333 for the season with most of his hits coming during the stretch run for the championship. Joe Mason, stocky senior catcher, was at bat more than any other player on the team. Joe made 66 trips to the plate and, like Yogi Berra, disdained trying for a walk as he swung at everything within reaching distance. Team averages follow:

ary August Englund, early Carmel's cigar-smoking, horse-riding, vice-chasing, one-man police force. It happened one year after Mrs. G. and her two cats in a wire-covered box had been vacationing in British Columbia, having had their itinerary and plans accurately recorded in the Pine Cone. On the trip Mrs. Grant received a minor bill from a Carmel stationer. She didn't owe anything so she replied with a facetious note, and continued her vacation.

Another, more strongly worded bill caught up with her. She replied with another facetious note. When she arrived home, Officer Englund rode up to her home on his black horse, waved his cigar, tipped his hat, welcomed her home, and handed her a subpoena. "Young Ray laugh handled the case," she recalls. "I paid a dollar in costs to get the subpoena understood ironed out. The stationer's costs were two dollars."

Every old timer has a story about Englund's diligent struggle against not merely the criminal but the outrageous. Mrs. Grant says he was at his finest when he was shoeing bathers in beach attire out of the downtown area where they, in his opinion, did not belong, and back toward the sea, where they did.

Talking at a business-like clip with a parliamentary command of the best of the Queen's English, Mrs. Grant counts over the past Carmelia she has seen, marveled at, and respected for originality, if nothing else.

There was the art dealer who sold his pictures by the square inch, a young matron who wore her auburn curls hanging to her waist (an abtue sight in the days of put-up or cut-off hair), an elderly lady visitor of square proportions who appeared down town in black and white knickerbockers, tight black jacket trimmed in jet and marabou feathers, and a toque with pink roses.

Mrs. Grant recalls that it was a dull day that didn't have a dog fight at the post office at mail time when every Carmelite arrived with his dog, or dogs.

She tells a story of statue purchasing, which has more than once been a Carmel problem. It was on Halloween that a marble sculpture was clandestinely removed from the Wermuth garden near San Carlos and Seventh and trundled to the foot of Ocean Avenue, where in the morning light of All Saints' Day it resembled a nude bather rising from the waves.

In pavementless days there was a hole in the street on San Carlos near Ocean. It was at least three feet long, some six to eight inches deep and appropriately wide. Carmelites, of course, wisely adjusted to the existence of the hole by stepping over it or driving around it.

No one seriously considered filling it in until the day an imposing, many-cylindrical auto full of supercilious visitors roared down San Carlos. All five occupants went straight up when the hole was struck, lost their aplomb in mid-air, and came down with a crash while Carmelites look on amused and amazed.

Mrs. Grant doesn't omit a reference to her own first exposure to a Carmel lecture, one given for his avid fans by a photographer who took himself and his work a little too seriously.

During the question session a lady rose and asked the lensman what he had sought to achieve with a large picture of a carbuncle on someone's neck. "Interesting concentric rings," the photographer explained. Mrs. Grant guffawed appreciatively. No one else,

Summer Sale: Post Office Box Rents Drastically Reduced

Postmaster Fred Strong announced this week, with pleasure, that box rents will be reduced starting July 1 in the Carmel Post Office; "This will somewhat offset the raise in postage which will be effective August 1," he said.

Rent for the two larger box sizes is to be cut in half, almost in half for the smallest, and more than half for the next size. Quarterly rates for the four sizes: the $1.50 boxes will be 90 cents; the $2.25 become $1.10; the $3.00 re-however, laughed.

So this is Margaret Grant's Carmel, the way she remembers it. Several years ago she went to Guadalajara on a holiday and when she returned there was no house immediately available in Carmel to suit her. But she has remained loyally on the Peninsula and now lives at 61 Via Encina, Monterey, among her Sixteenth Century china, her Bohemian glass, her cats and her heirlooms, each one as intriguing as her memories.

Anything but a stay-at-home, she drives everywhere in her own car and many of her short trips are over the hill to Carmel to see friends and acquaintances from the old days.

Time, of course, has thinned them out. One of her favorite artists was the late Armin Hansen, one of her favorite people Celia Seymour Kent, crayon artist and grand lady of Carmel who was tops as hostess, raconteuse, mimic and teller of the Irish anecdote.

Among the best of the reminiscing was a brief personal memorial to William Askew, whom she remembers as an artist, a creator of beautiful things out of leather. She says he once told her he learned the craft in his boyhood from an old Indian artisan and kept his hobby pretty much to himself.

The lady who has witnessed thirty-seven years in the lifetime of Carmel is silent on making comparisons and drawing conclusions. But the way we see it is this.

In the twenties the quandaries concerned prankishness, the world moving in, holes in the streets, bathers in the ships. In recent years we've had newspaper accounts of prankishness, the world moving in, holes in the streets, bathers in the shops. Maybe Carmel really and happily is staying much the same.

duced to $1.50; the $4.50 bins to $2.25.

Postage increases: three-cent first class will become four cents; six-cent air mail, seven; Carmel two-cent drop rate, three cents; two-cent post card, three; four-cent air mail post card, five.

Quarterly box rent is due June 20, and since it is payable in advance, box holders will pay the new rate at that time.

Lindsay-Oliver's Student Artists In Recital Sunday

Free to the public on Sunday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock is Mary Lindsay-Oliver's presentation of a group of student-artists. David Schoenbrod and Richard Turner, who have made constant study of voice production and coaching in repertoire for the past two years at the Lindsay-Oliver Studio, will be heard in baritone solos including operatic selections. Schoenbrod is soloist with the Church of The Wayfarer Choir, where he can also be heard on June 22. Turner formerly sang with the Stanford University Chorus and the University Choir.

Marjorie Pegram, well-known Carmelite contralto, has been a long-time member of the All Saints' Choir. Anita Sohn, whose father was a famous singer in Germany, had never studied, herself, until she came to Lindsay-Oliver, where her innate talent has progressed her quickly, although she is the mother of three children and holds a job. Ora Fallis is a member of the Mission Choir, and Joanne Schoenbrod will sing a duet with her husband. The pianist is Nancy Caravan, just turned six, who shows the kind of remarkable talent that develops into an outstanding artist. Although she is the only small child her teacher has accepted here, Lindsay-Oliver has trained many other talented youngsters elsewhere who are now professionally before the public.

Lindsay-Oliver will, herself, officiate at the piano on Sunday. Her interesting composer-pianist's benefit recital for the Monterey County Symphony Orchestra last Spring, when Conductor Gregory Millar sang some of her songs, and orchestra members played her chamber compositions at the Nix Ballet Theatre, is remembered by those who heard it. All are cordially invited to the following program.

Honor and Arms, Handel; In Questa Tomba, Beethoven; Richard Turner. Du bist die ruh, Serenade, Schubert; Anita Sohn. Nina, Pergolese; In Hebridean Seas, Mull Fisher's Love Son, Kennedy-Fraser; David Schoenbrod. Saraband, Mandel; Rondo from Sonatina Op. 36, Clementi; Nancy Caravan.

Slumber Song, 17th Century English; Orpheus with his lute, Sullivan; Ora Fallis. O wert thou in the cauld blast, Mendelssohn; JoAnne and David Schoenbrod.

Veghissia sembrienza, Donoudy; Two arias from Persian Garden, Lehmann; Marjorie Pegram. Up frae the glen, Lindsay-Oliver; The Monk, Meyerbeer; Richard Turner. Aria from Don Carlo, Verdi; Anita Sohn. Romance from Tannhauser, Wagner; The Erl King, Schubert; David Schoenbrod. At the Piano, Mary Lindsay-Oliver.

League Supports Measures 2, 8, 9, Delegates Report

Monterey Peninsula delegates to the recent League of Women Voters' state convention in Los Angeles reported to local members at a meeting last Thursday at the home of Mrs. William Arley Smith that the convention voted to support three measures on the November ballot:

No. 2, on school bonds; No. 8, change in the election laws to make it possible for new residents of California to vote for Presidential electors; and No. 9, changes in the length of the legislative sessions. On two other ballot measures local Leagues will determine their stand during the next two months.

Study topic adopted by the convention for the League is water resources in California.

Delegates from the peninsula were Mrs. Richard Eldrid, Mrs. Adrian Bennett, Mrs. Martin Glasser, Mrs. Joseph Morlan and Mrs. H. T. Stotler. In the name of the Monterey Peninsula League, they invited the convention to meet at Asilomar in 1961, and acceptance is expected.

Mrs. Julian von Meier, member of the League committee on Area Planning, reported on a recent meeting she attended of the U.C. Planning Conference, held in Richmond, California. At this meeting, State Senator Fred Farr spoke on the need for coordination between state and local plans. Senator Farr is introducing a bill to establish a State Planning Agency to achieve coordination between local planners and state agencies such as Beaches and Parks, Highways, Aeronautics, etc. The League members were interested to hear that Mayor Ted Merriam, of Chico, recommended that more women serve as planners. During a Clinic for new Planning Commission members, a panel of experts concurred strongly that administrative advisors to commissions should not have voting privileges, a position which the Monterey Peninsula League has upheld.

HERLIHY INJURED IN MANILA

Captain William Joseph Herlihy (USA) is recovering from multiple fractures of the ribs and a ruptured eardrum received when a Pan American Airliner skidded off a flooded runway at the Manila International Airport while making a landing in a heavy squall.

Captain Herlihy is a Carmel High School graduate and had been visiting friends here shortly before leaving on the flight.

Henry Fagin Speaks At MCCPA Public Meeting Tomorrow

Eighty Thousand New Neighbors for Monterey Peninsula is the problem to be discussed at the meeting sponsored by the Monterey County Citizens Planning Association at the Carmel Craft Center tomorrow evening at 8:00 o'clock. Principal speaker at the meeting which is open to all citizens of the Peninsula communities, Carmel Valley, and the Coast Highway will be Henry Fagin, Assistant Director of Regional Planning for the City of New York and currently the Ford Foundation's Rotating Research Professor on Governmental Affairs, now at the University of California. Senator Fred Farr will report on the University of California Planning Conference held last month in Richmond at which he was the principal speaker and also discuss planning at the state level.

In announcing the June 13 meeting, Will Shaw, president of the citizen group said, "Everyone who is interested in the Monterey Peninsula as a place to live and work had better begin now to think about the estimated 80,000 new neighbors coming here in the next ten or 20 years. Now that the Area Planning Commission has been formed, it is important that it have available the advice, the assistance, and the full support of informed citizens from all the communities in its jurisdiction." In addition to this meeting the Association is planning a full area planning conference in the fall.

Hilary Arranges For Publication Of Father's Letters

At present Hilary Belloc, former Carmel resident and frequent visitor here, is motoring through Spain. He has already spent some time in Italy and plans to visit Portugal before returning to England through France. He has been in London for the last two months attending to details relating to publication of a volume of his father's selected correspondence titled Letters from Hilaire Belloc. The time period covered in the correspondence is from the turn of the century to World War II. The book gives a vivid impression of the late English writer. In his letters to friends Hilaire Belloc reveals his personality, his opinions on world events, his religious convictions, a love of California though not of all America, and the defeats, victories and simple enjoyments of a man interested in living. Some of the letters are written in humorous verse.

"Difficult to assign any particular orientation to his approach, mechanically shaky, constantly hampered by a lack of technical facility, not ready to concertize."

—Jack Benson, MONTEREY PENINSULA HERALD.
"Stockton, while not exhibiting the brilliancy or technical bravura of some in the concert field, charmed his audience with an innately sensitive musical feeling and artistic phrasing and expression, drawing from his instrument a quality of tone which seemed particularly sympathetic."

—Mary Lindsay-Oliver, CARMEL PINE CONE.
"Stockton, for his part, showed authority and ability in his performance. His tone was equally piquant and pleasant, his mood was earnest."

—Alexander Fried, SAN FRANCISCO EXAMINER.
"Mr. Stockton presented much unfamiliar music in a way to make one think it should become more familiar. He coped efficiently with the musical and instrumental requirements of his task."

—Mariory Fisher, SAN FRANCISCO NEWS.
"An extremely sensitive musician and technician."
—R. H. Hagan, SAN FRANCISCO CHRONICLE.

In his recent recital at Carmel Craft Center, in which Mr. Stockton was enthusiastically received by a completely attentive audience, it has been reported that over half the audience left before the program was over, and probably made so much noise in doing so that the audience could not clearly hear the numbers listed below. Mr. Stockton has kindly consented to play these numbers again. Otherwise the program will be new.

The Reluctant Deb Next Production At Circle Theatre

The Golden Bough Circle Theatre has set the opening of its latest production, The Reluctant Debutante, for June 20. The comedy, by William Douglas Home, will run for six successive weekends at Carmel's theatre-in-the-round.

The Reluctant Debutante takes a shrewd look at what goes on in London society when mothers set out to catch wealthy and titled husbands for their teenage girls. The play so delighted Londoners that it ran there for almost two years, and subsequently was a hit on Broadway.

Ignatius Heniford, drama instructor at Monterey Peninsula College, has staged the show, and the cast includes three of the college's most talented drama students as members of the debutante set.

The central role will be played by Gertrude Chappell, last seen at the Circle as Prossie in Shaw's Candida.

Hospital And VNA Receive MPVS Gifts At Luncheon Meeting

More than 100 members and guests attended the luncheon meeting of the Monterey Peninsula Volunteer Services last Friday at the Rancho Del Monte when the president, Mrs. Archer M. R. Allen, announced a gift of $1,000, voted by the membership, to the proposed new community Hospital for the Monterey Peninsula, and presented the garden tour proceeds of $2,699.35 to Mrs. Theodore L. Bogert, vice president of the Visiting Nurse Association, in the absence of the president, Mr. Gerald Keith.

Mrs. Bogert accepted this, the largest amount during the seven years of garden tours given for the benefit of the VNA, with warm appreciation. She pointed out that during 1952, the first year of VNA organization, the small staff had made 1,291 home calls, while last year this number had risen to 6,324 calls. Recently the staff has been increased by a sixth nurse to meet community demands. During 1957, 29 per cent of all calls were made free of charge. She stated that the MPVS gift of just under $2,700 would meet one month's expenses in the projected 1959 budget.

Mrs. Roy Page, MPVS projects chairman, announced that her committee had selected September 26, as the date of the fall fundraising project, the Rancho Del Monte as the place, and a "country carnival" as the theme. Miss Peg Bowen and Mrs. Arthur Dresser, both Valley residents, were appointed to carry out the details of the project.

Mrs. Boyd Mewborn, thrift shop chairman, reported a profit of $919.23 for May, the largest sum raised in a month by this backbone of MPVS giving.

Miss Margaret Prosser, publicity chairman, reported that a study of the Guest Book, kept each year at the garden tours, revealed that visitors from 61 communities in California outside of the Monterey Peninsula, from 12 states in addition to this State, and from two foreign countries — Mexico and England — had signed; more than 1000 in all.

Special guests at the luncheon were some of the owners who had generously opened their gardens for the tour: Mrs. F. G. Cruikshank, Mrs. J. F. Gurley and daughter, Miss Barbara Gurley, and Mr. and Mrs. Avery Tompkins.

New members introduced were: Mrs. Helen L. Filippini, Mrs. Shirley Houghton, Miss Victorine Longa and Mrs. Winthrop H. Whitney, all of Carmel.

Geyer Gets River Job; $29,700 Under Architect Estimate

At their June 5 meeting the school board awarded the ten-classroom construction job at River School to H. C. Geyer whose low bid, $125,600, is $29,700 under architect's estimate of $155,300. The contract calls for completion on December 13 with a $25 a day penalty clause.

Earlier in the week the board accepted Lloyd Hamilton's bid of $185,988 for 11 high school classrooms, toilet building and corridors. This is $85,078 under estimate.

There were eight other bidders for the River construction: Henry Jewell, Jr., Geyer's closest contender, $126,874; Lloyd Hamilton $126,956; Ekelin and Sinal $127,900; J. B. Fratessa $128,745; G. W. Davis $129,300; Tombeson and Huck $129,127; J. D. Huizenga $130,964; Comstock Associates $135,229.

And here's more good proof you're getting a bargain. In the chart at right you'll find the gas and electricity you use today cost even less than they would at 1936 rates! Why not let this low-cost energy do more of your work, save you time, add to the pleasure of living in beautiful California!

... what's more, gas and electricity
are cheaper now than in 1936

Based on today's typical home use—250

DRAKE

*More than a glut of glittering stores
Of treasure in the creaking hold,
More than the witchery and gold
Of fragrant and exotic shores;*

*Yes, more than life itself, or fame,
You sought, O eagle-hearted one,
As ever you pursued the sun
Down lonely western skies aflame.*

*Your spirit hungered to be free,
To challenge fate and overcome;
To strike the wondering tempests dumb
With casual conquests of the sea.*

—WALDEN GARRATT.

LINES ON BIRDS

*It was at camp two summers ago
After the rains. A friend of mine
Had stopped to talk about the storm,
And how he thought the wind had blown
A nest of eagles from the rocks.*

*"Something for your poems," he said,
And with a smile, "I should have known
A better word to use than that!"*

*"Perhaps a line or two on birds
Would make the book," I said aloud,
And to myself, "he could be right
In his mistake, the way all words
Flicker into meaning from our doubts."*

—JOHN STEVEN WADE.

THE PATIENT SOIL

*Bare and desolate wasteland lies;
Withered and sparse, the spiny brush;
Expectantly awaiting rain,—
In patience enduring what it must.*

*The moaning wind and its bleak refrain
Echoes despair, like unto pain.*

*In mute appeal to unclouded skies
The stunted growth of the chaparral
Braving the elements to cling
With determined roots to the shallow soil,
Hoards in potentiality
Embryonic seeds of fertility.*

—GRACE R. BALLARD.

Mayor John Chitwood Proclaims Yes Week

Mayor John Chitwood, proclaiming this as Youth Employment Week, also praised efforts of the Monterey Peninsula Youth Employment Service (YES) which finds summer or after school work for students between the ages of 14 and 21. Mrs. Gladys McCloud represents the Carmel Business Association on the peninsula-wide YES committee.

She is urging Carmel residents and merchants who have jobs for students, or can create them, to register with the State Employment Service in Monterey. Students seeking work register with the same office which allocates jobs according to employers' demands for young people.

YES was organized to combat one of the contributing causes of juvenile delinquency, the fact that youth is unable to occupy constructively their after-school and vacation hours. Paid-for-work which conforms to law and does not displace adult workers is the solution to this problem, according to YES committee members.

Garage, yard, house and window cleaning, dishwashing and baby sitting are some of the jobs suggested for students by Mrs. McCloud. She is asking Carmel residents with such work to inform YES by telephoning FR 5-4191. Merchants may be able to create employment for young people in their businesses, she adds. They, too, may call YES for a worker.

FROM A LIBRARIAN'S NOTEBOOK

By Ruth Galvin Thornburg

Countdown for Tomorrow is an important book by Martin Caidin. In it he surveys the progress Russian scientists have made in rocket research and explains why Russia has outstripped the United States in getting satellites into orbit and keeping them there. He describes the future plans of Russian scientists and tells in searing prose just what we must do to keep up in this race for the conquest of space. Countdown for Tomorrow is a vital book and one we should read and use as a warning.

From the cold war we go back to the last war and the book Escape from Corregidor by Edgar Whitcomb. The author was a navigator on a B-17. He evaded capture at the fall of Bataan by escaping to Corregidor in a rowboat, only again to risk capture there after the surrender of "the Rock". By swimming eight hours, he returned to the mainland, and after weeks in the jungle, he was finally taken by the Japanese. Insisting that his name was Robert Johnson, and that he was a mining employee, he was able to protect himself and the natives who had aided him. He lived another man's life for two years always clinging to his determination to escape. This book tells his story. Escape from Corregidor by Edgar Whitcomb.

Back in American history we go to another war, this time the one known as King Phillip's War, fought in 1675 and 1676, and recounted in a book entitled Flintlock and Tomahawk. The author, Douglas Leach, is a professor of history at Vanderbilt University, and has made an intensive study of King Phillip's War and of the causes which led to it. The book has copious notes, some of which are story material but most are merely source listings. Flintlock and Tomahawk by Douglas Leach.

A History of Russian music, by Richard Leonard traces from the early chants of the medieval Russian church up to the present day of Shostakovich and Khachaturian. Included here are detailed studies of the lives of famous Russian composers, with drawings and photographs. This is an informative book, and should give us some idea of the arts of Russia past and present. A History of Russian Music by Richard Leonard.

On the lighter side, among the new novels this week is the latest from the pen of Ellery Queen, the 30th mystery he has written. This one is entitled The Finishing Stroke and in it the reader goes back to the world of the glorious twenties, with raccoon coats, bathtub gin, and stock market plunges. Ellery started working on this case in 1929 and finished it 27 years later in 1957. A record of some kind, and a good story into the bargain. The Finishing Stroke, by Ellery Queen.

The summer reading club for children is about to start. Let your small ones come in early and get a good start on a summer of reading pleasure.

The Good Old Summer Time

A wonderful season . . . vacation time . . . the time when children are on the loose, free and happy . . . when the skies are sunny and the evenings balmy . . . patio barbecue party time . . . the time when the good earth palpitates with the desire for reproduction . . . garden time.

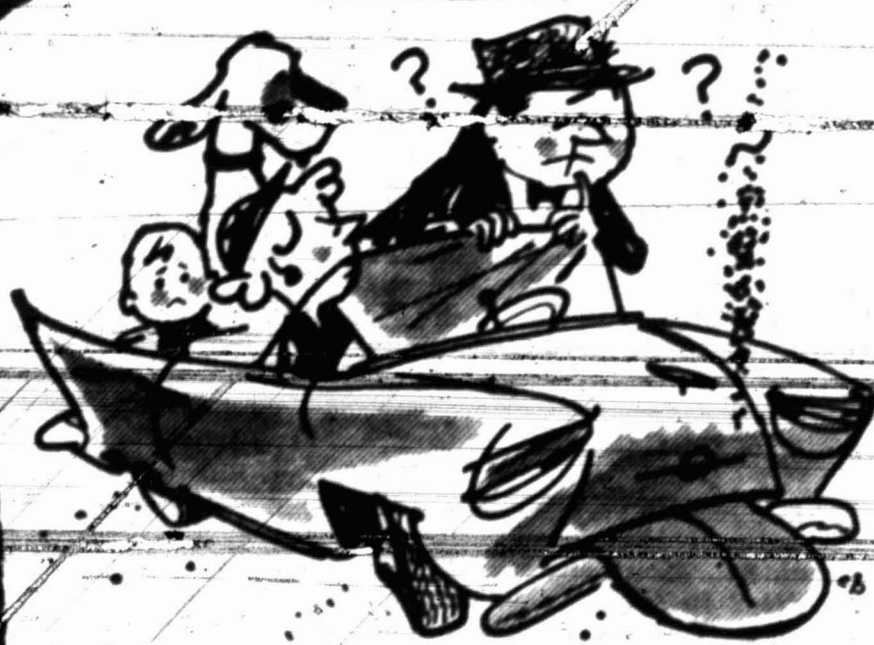

Now, anyone can have a garden who has a plot of ground, who plans a little and loves a lot. . . . To have a fine garden one must know the needs of his soil, must learn what and when and how to plant. Your nurseryman can tell you these things and more. As to watering—give your garden the amount of water it needs, not too little and not too much. Heavy adobe soils take water slowly, loose sandy soils absorb it fast. When you know the soil and the drainage and sun and shade conditions of your plot of ground you will know just how to water for the best results.

Village Players Give Their Side Of Forest Theater Date Conflict

Editor's note: Ron Bostwick, representing the Village Players, has contributed the following. Though some of his comments may not necessarily reflect the opinions of the editor, we have no hesitation in stating that we are in sympathy with any effort to produce a Robinson Jeffers play.

By RON BOSTWICK

In Jean Anouilh's The Lark, currently at the Golden Bough, the Bishop of Beauvais in speaking of the burning of Joan of Arc says, "We have made a mistake which can never now be mended." Warwick, the soldier and politician, immediately replies, "Political language knows no such words as never now be mended."

We have now an unusual opportunity here in Carmel to test the truth of Warwick's statement. It is felt by many that Carmel "can never now be mended." Once a quiet picturesque town of quality shops and first rate resort hotels, Carmel is now motel row under the pines. Instead of the quiet long staying tourists who enjoyed Carmel for what it was, we now have the quick and dirty motorists and are hurrying to lower our standards to accommodate them.

As a member of the City Council has said "fifty motels are enough." If the tide is not stemmed, Carmel will be completely drowned in the second rate.

It has been one of Carmel's fine old traditions to present either original plays or Shakespeare or the Greeks or some other dramatic production of undoubted quality at the Forest Theater during the summer season. It is typical of the engulfment which threatens Carmel that the two businessmen who put on plays at the Wharf in Monterey have behind the sheepskin of the helpless and hapless Forest Theater Guild applied for summer dates at the Forest Theater to put on one of their tourist-ticking musicals.

At the same time a group of well known local theater people have applied for dates at the Forest Theater to present Robinson Jeffers' The Cretan Woman. This newly formed group, called the Village players, consists of Ron Bostwick, Richard Bailey, David Walton, Ruth and Errol Allen and have been recently involved in such outstanding Carmel productions as Waiting for Godot and The Lark.

The Village Players seek a house in which to do quality drama. It is their intention to present a top quality production of a fine play by a great poet whose quiet presence amongst us has done much to bring Carmel and the Big Sur coast to the attention of the world.

To recover for a few hours each weekend at least a sense of the mood of old Carmel, to indicate to this surpassing poet the degree of esteem with which he is held in his own town is the intention of the Village Players. It is hoped that the City Council or some other responsible agency will see fit to participate in a more official tribute to this world-famed villager.

This is what the Village Players want to do; but perhaps you can't turn back the clock. We are told you can't stop progress. If motels are two years so is musical at the Forest Theater.

And so the question is posed. It has to be answered now and it

Florence Middaugh To Give Lecture On Christian Science

How the power of God set forth in the Bible brings peace and harmony will be the topic of a free lecture on Christian Science to be given here Monday evening, June 23, by Florence Middaugh of Los Angeles.

Miss Middaugh will speak in the church edifice, Monte Verde Street near Sixth at 8:00 o'clock under the auspices of First Church of Christ, Scientist, of Carmel. Her subject will be Christian Science: The Science of the Teachings of Christ Jesus. The lecture is free, and local members have invited the public to attend.

A native of Colorado, Miss Middaugh is currently on a nationwide speaking tour as a member of The Christian Science Board of Lectureship. will have to be answered again and again. Is it to be The Cretan Woman for Carmel or a rollicking imitation of a Broadway musical for a rollicking imitation of Carmel?

But then — as we've all heard so many times: What's so wrong with Santa Cruz?

Fred Stockton To Give Classic Guitar Concert

Mr. Fred Stockton, who is to give his second concert in this area on June 14 at the Carmel Craft Center, was formerly an orchestra musician, for many years playing brass and reeds in symphony and dance orchestras. He first heard and became interested in the classic guitar while in Mexico with an orchestra.

He came to the San Francisco area eight years ago from Hollywood, and has been active since that time promoting the classic guitar in this part of California. He believes that among all the instruments it gives the greatest satisfaction to the performer, and cites as proof that he numbers among his students doctors, lawyers, college and university, grade and high school teachers, and many other professional men and women.

His Carmel studio is the fifth studio he has opened. He at present maintains studios in San Francisco, Sacramento, Palo Alto, San Jose and Carmel. In this work he has several young men helping him whom he has personally trained for this work.

Since coming to this area he has given concerts in San Jose, Palo Alto, San Mateo, Berkeley, Sacramento and San Francisco.

This young man's learning to climb a pole at a telephone "classroom in the sky." He'll get many hours of training, because there's a lot more to it than you might think. For instance, you have to make sure your right arm and leg move up at the same time. (Same with your left arm and leg). And you have to get the hang of the belts, the spikes, and all the other equipment. We have special schools not only for linemen but installers, operators, and many others. And with good, well-trained people on the job, you can be sure your service is in good hands.

Claude Oldham, on the right and Dick Parise are shown working on the relocation of the telephone cable at the top of Carmel Hill, making way for the new Over-pass which is to be constructed there.

Kochers Return From Europe

Dr. and Mrs. R. A. Kocher came home to Carmel last week after two months in Europe. In their baggage was film for 300 color transparencies. Dr. Kocher took the pictures to preserve memories of their travels in France, Belgium, Switzerland, Germany, England and Scotland.

The Kochers spent a week in Paris at the beginning of their trip and returned again later. In Switzerland they stayed in Lausanne with the Noel Arnolds of Pebble Beach and motored about the country with their hosts. They visited Zurich, Vienna, Munich where Dr. Kocher was a medical student, Cologne, and took a voyage down the Rhine. In England the Kochers saw Mr. and Mrs. Donald Ogden Stewart (Ella Winter), both former Carmel residents. They traveled north to Scotland, staying in Edinburgh where Dr. Kocher was stationed at the end of the war as a staff member of the Royal Infirmary. They also saw the Highlands before returning to London and then home.

Miss Larson's Summer

An invitation has come to Miss Enid A. Larson, Biology teacher at Carmel High School to present a paper before the Claremont College Reading Conference this summer. The Reading Conference is under the direction of Dr. Peter Spencer, and is sponsored jointly by Claremont College and Alpha Iota Chapter of Pi Lambda Theta, the woman's educational honor society. This Conference recognizes that reading is much more than working with printed words and emphasizes that a person does not read by sight alone.

From this conference at Claremont College, Miss Larson will go to Santa Barbara where she will serve as an instructor during the summer at the University of California College at Goleta.

Rare Cypress Study Wins First Place

(Continued from Page One) dents in understanding the story of seasonal earth changes. Students have come to understand that there are definite ways in which man can work in harmony with nature — especially from their studies in areas where unnecessary disturbance by man to plant and animal communities is eliminated. From field trips to Point Lobos and to the Natural Area at Carmel High School, set up by the Biology Department by student request in 1951, students recognize the greater values derived from areas where land is left free — from disturbance, all experimental testings, and from specimen collection.

Tal Delighted With Trip

Florence and Tal Josselyn got back from a three weeks' ramble Wednesday afternoon. Tal delighted with the people and other animals he encountered in the National Parks, and with the colorful old towns of Idaho and Nevada. He had fun waiting in line to eat in Yellowstone, out of "fifteen fellows with cameras crashing through the thickets" to photograph the bored and patient elk, the fine distinctions of the road signs: inside the park, "watch out for animals", outside: "watch out for game".

He looked across a lake "pale blue, about the blue of the French flag," to the mountains in Wyoming "a hundred miles away in Owen Wister country."

They saw the Grand Tetons, Craters of the Moon, Sun Valley, visited an old town in Idaho where Tal had gone as a youth to prospect for gold. "There aren't any more people there and there aren't any fewer — it's the same, after 50 years!" he marvels. He is amused by the denizens of a casino in Elko, Nevada, but Carson City — "delightful — the little white wooden houses when you get back from the main street."

South Seas Films At Gallery

The public is invited to see two reels of South Seas film at Carmel Art Association Gallery on Saturday evening at 8:00 o'clock. There is no admission charge.

Photographer Bayard Rucker of Berkeley took the film. In it are shown Tahiti, Tonga, the New Hebrides, New Guinea, the Samoas, and northern Australia. Mr. and Mrs. Rucker are spending the weekend in Carmel as guests of Dr. and Mrs. Howard E. Clark. The Clarks took a trip to the South Seas this winter on the freighter Thorsis and arranged for Mr. Rucker to show his picture of a similar trip to the people of Carmel.

Rommel General Is New Carmel Resident

Major General and Mrs. Henry Warrelmann have been living in Carmel for two weeks at Second and Lincoln Streets. They lived in Medford, Oregon, until last November when Major General Warrelmann joined the faculty of the Army Language School as instructor of German. The Warrelmanns recently sold the house they owned in Medford and decided to settle in Carmel.

During World War II, Major General Warrelmann served with the German Army on both the Eastern and Western fronts and in Africa under Field Marshal Rommel. He was taken prisoner by the British and after the war came to the United States. He lived in Oakland for a short time before moving to Oregon where he worked as a carpenter with the Cascade Wood Products Company in Medford until he received his appointment to the Language School. "We are very happy," says Mrs. Warrelmann, "although not quite everything in the house is arranged yet."

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERMON

GOD THE PRESERVER OF MAN

Man's God-given safety and protection will be emphasized at Christian Science services Sunday in the Lesson-Sermon "God the Preserver of Man."

The Apostle Paul's healing of Eutychus, the young man who "fell down from the third loft, and was taken up dead" (Acts 20), will be included in the Scriptural readings.

Selections from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy will include the following (424:5): "Accidents are unknown to God, or immortal Mind, and we must leave the mortal basis of belief and unite with the one Mind, in order to change the notion of chance to the proper sense of God's unerring direction and thus bring out harmony."

The Golden Text is from Psalms (121: 7, 8): "The Lord shall preserve thee from all evil: . . . The Lord shall preserve thy going out and thy coming in from this time forth, and even for evermore."

Citizens, Sages Fear Carmel Has Too Many Motels

is under consideration. A moratorium amendment to this ordinance can be adopted and no building permits for new motels issued during the moratorium period, unless a use permit is granted. The use permit would be given in instances where the new motel would be built in an area to be zoned for such development, if such a zone were being considered.

Planning commission chairman George Willox then pointed out that in the Master Plan "effective motel control" was provided in the proposed orange zone. Control of square footage of land area was another planning commission recommendation to control motels, he added. This provision limited one motel unit to 1,000 square feet of land. Both commission ideas were regarded unfavorably and abandoned.

Commissioner Herbert Blanks pointed out that from "the money point of view" motels in Carmel were an "unwise investment". They are becoming "speculative enterprises" with new motel owners "paying off for a while, then selling. They are not a long range enterprise." He was sure that motels were not, in the minds of many of the people of Carmel, desirable, added nothing to the appearance of the town, undesirably increased population and density of tourist traffic.

Councilman Norberg next stressed that Carmel is "incidentally and unhappily an overnight resort and flooded week after week with hamburger and beer tourists. He reported Corum Jackson as saying this element prevents long summer rentals of Carmel houses.

Thomas K. Perry, as executive secretary of the C-2 Property Owners Association, wanted to know "How to keep pie eaters out and make them stay in Monterey?" He opposed the moratorium, remarking that he didn't want "to go over this (motel building) every year and with every new council member."

Walt Pilot of the Carmel Business Association felt that stopping motels now was "locking the barn door after the horse was stolen." He felt lack of land would stop motels from being built. Captain H. M. Gleason said motels were detrimental to Carmel and asked that a moratorium be declared. Mrs. Patricia Hall observed that large taxpayers such as motels "have a lot to say," and she was apprehensive that motel owners would demand more entertainment for tourists. "Who should control life in Carmel?" she demanded.

Col. Charles Hazeltine thought Carmel had deteriorated. The city was becoming "a Coney Island" for the benefit of 10-15 percent of the townspeople and the horror of the rest. Mrs. Perry Newberry asked that ideas of Carmel originators be considered. "Stop motels," she urged.

J. O. Handley defended persons who have bought property in Carmel for motel building. "They are in a bad position," he said, "if the ordinance is changed every six months. What about their investment?"

Derek Rayne, self-styled pirate of Ocean Avenue, said, "Motels do not bring the same type of person to Carmel as before." He had seen no increase in business in proportion to the increase in visitors.

Professor Charles E. Corbin remarked, "The schools and hospital are moving out of the city. Why not rezone Carmel to keep out homes?"

Last speaker, Mrs. Josephine Root, advocated purchase of land in the business district by an organized group such as is done by an organization in Boston which endeavors to preserve the character of that city.

Earlier Mayor Chitwood had remarked, "Carmel is a huffing and puffing town" and that he felt the people wished their city to remain unchanged as English villages had remained for hundreds of years.

CLASS OF 1948 REUNION
Members of the 1948 graduating class from Carmel High School meet on Saturday for a tenth reunion. The gathering starts at the home of Lew McCreery at 5:00 o'clock and moves to the Mission Ranch for dinner at 7:00. Around 20 members of the class plan to be present, with wives and husbands. Travelling farthest to reminisce with her classmates is Wanda Warren from Wyoming. Bob Barry and Curtis Gorham are coming from Palo Alto and the rest of the group are living in this area.
